"There is nothing that cannot be achieved"

*Richard Man on the Edge Lawrence April 2001
Oarsman @ Hampton School, Imperial College, "GB U-23"*

When you hear bad news you will invariably tell 10 other people (??)

In January last year Man on the Edge (Richard Lawrence) told all his friends and therefore all their friends and all their friend's friends (and their friend's friend's friends and) that he had Cancer.

Edge was training to run the London Marathon again.

In June last year, at the Princess Alice Hospice, Edge died peacefully, surrounded by his family and at ease with the world.

His whole illness was communicated to his Dream Team (which grew on a daily basis) by email. Dream Teamers have started to do very strange things:

- One left her job to train in Law
- One is running 120 mile marathon across the Sahara

Seventeen are running the 2002 London Marathon

SO WHAT???

Racing Edge is aiming to raise a minimum of £ 20,000 to be shared between these charities:

Princes Alice Hospice / Cancer Research / Shaftesbury Homes / Macmillan
